Bradford Cooke, CEO, commented, "In 2017, silver equivalent production met the low end of our original guidance and the high end of our revised guidance, notwithstanding several operating challenges at the Guanacevi mine. I am pleased to say our operations team resolved many of those operating issues and they have plans to complete Guanacevi's recovery to normal operations in 2018.

"After a tough start to the year in the first quarter, Endeavour posted three consecutive quarters of improved production, making the fourth quarter our best of the year. Ore grades and throughput both improved in the second half. A productivity optimization program is being launched at Guanacevi this month and additional operational improvements are planned this year at Bolanitos and El Cubo. As we advance our development projects and continue optimizing our existing mines, we look forward to delivering one of the best growth profiles in the silver mining sector.

"The El Compas mine and plant development project continues to move forward on time and budget, targeting initial production in late March, 2018. Both the main mine portal and the secondary ramp entrance infrastructure are now complete; the main mine ramp has advanced 174 meters, and plant refurbishment was 82% complete at the end of December. Management is excited about the recent high grade drilling results at the nearby Calicanto property and the other properties we acquired in the Zacatecas district in 2017. Drilling will resume at Calicanto this month.

“At Terronera, we received permits to build the mine and plant and we await receipt of the dumps and tailings permits. Several trade-off studies were completed in 2017 and management expects to release a summary of an updated pre-feasibility study in February. Assuming a positive production decision in the first quarter, we plan to break ground in the second quarter and target initial production by late 2019. We are equally excited about the 2017 high grade drilling results at Terronera and drilling will resume this month.

“In the third quarter, we appointed a new Vice-President, Engineering, to oversee our technical services and development projects. Over the past few months, we have built a core engineering team, including managers of mining, construction, permitting and resource estimation, to significantly expand our internal capabilities to evaluate, design and build our new mines. This group is responsible for the delivery of our development projects, reaffirming our renewed focus on growth.”

Guanaceví Mine

- Silver equivalent production met revised guidance but was below original guidance for 2017 due to lower throughput resulting from mine flooding, related to an incursion of hot water and power outages from power grid problems and a lightning strike that caused pumps to fail. These problems were resolved in the 2nd half of 2017. Additionally, slower mine development due to narrower vein widths than modeled also contributed to lower mine output. Initial production from the Milache and Santa Cruz Sur orebodies in the 2nd half of 2018 should help boost both throughput and grades
- Silver production met revised guidance, based on lower throughput partly offset by higher silver recovery
- Gold production beat revised guidance, based on lower throughput partly offset by higher gold grade
- Completed 10.5 kilometres (km) of underground mine development
- Extended the Porvenir Centro and Santa Cruz mineralized zones

Bolafitos Mine

- Silver equivalent production significantly exceeded guidance for 2017
- Silver production met guidance due to higher throughput and silver recovery, partly offset by lower silver grade
- Gold production beat guidance due to higher throughput, higher gold grade and recovery
- Completed 3.6 km of underground mine development
- Extended the LL-Asuncion and Plateros orebodies

El Cubo Mine

- Silver equivalent production was below guidance for 2017
- Silver production met guidance, notwithstanding slightly lower throughput and silver recovery
- Gold production was below guidance due to lower throughput and gold grade
- Completed 9.2 km of underground mine development
- Explored several targets at El Cubo North

Sustainability Programs

- Endeavour was active once again investing in sustainability programs for safety, health, education, environment and community
- Bolanitos and El Cubo both received the annual “Socially Responsible Company” Award
- The Company planted 43,939 trees and cacti to reclaim disturbed ground in 2017
- The 2017 Annual Review and Sustainability Report will be published in early May

Upcoming News

Over the next month, Endeavour expects to release:

- Updated economics for the new El Compas mine
- Year-end reserve and resource estimates
- 2018 production and cost guidance

Summary results of an optimized pre-feasibility study for Terronera are scheduled for release in mid-late February.

About Endeavour – Endeavour Silver Corp. is a mid-tier precious metals mining company with three high-grade, underground, silver-gold mines in Mexico. Since start-up in 2004, Endeavour has grown its mining operations organically to produce 8.9 million ounces of silver equivalents in 2017. Development of Endeavour's high-grade discovery on the Terronera property in Jalisco state, the permitted El Compas mine and plant in Zacatecas state, and the prospective Parral properties in Chihuahua state, should facilitate the Company's goal to become a premier senior producer in the silver mining sector.
